By signing below, all parties authorize SURETY to confirm bank balances and all other items which appear in said statement in consideration of the execution by SURETY of the suretyship herein applied for.

I (we) agree:

1) We hereby apply to Surety for any and all bonds requested by the indemnitors, which includes any bonds, continuations, renewals, additions, and increases. We will personally and as a company indemnify the Surety and hold them harmless from and against any and all claims, demands or legal expenses of any kind or nature which arise by reason of the execution of any bonds issued for and/or on behalf of any and/or all Indemnitors including attorney fees and costs incurred by Surety in enforcing the terms of this application. Each Indemnitor further affirms that they understand that bonds are a credit relationship. Indemnitors jointly and severally agree, for themselves, their personal representatives, successors and assigns to fully indemnify and hold harmless Surety from and against any and all loss, claims, demands or legal expenses of any kind or nature which arise by reason of the execution of any bonds for and on behalf any and/or all indemnitors including attorney fees and costs incurred by surety in enforcing the terms of this agreement regardless of whether the surety has actually received a claim or paid any amount. We also authorize SURETY to confirm bank balances and all other items which appear in said statement in consideration of the execution by SURETY of the suretyship herein applied for.

2) To pay to Surety upon demand:

a. All loss and expense, including attorneys' fees, for which Surety shall become liable by reason of such bonds, whether or not Surety shall have paid such loss and expense at the time of demand.

c. All attorneys' fees and costs incurred by Surety in enforcing this agreement.

d. An amount sufficient to discharge any claim against Surety by reason of such suretyship. This sum may be used to pay such claim or be held by Surety as collateral security against loss. The Surety shall determine a reasonable amount necessary to protect it from loss whether or not the Surety has established a reserve, made any payment, or received any notice of claims under the bonds. Surety may retain the collateral until all actual and potential claims against the bonds are exonerated and all Loss is fully reimbursed, including the payment of any bond premium due.

3) Surety shall have the exclusive right to determine whether any claim or suit shall, on the basis of liability, expediency or otherwise, be paid, denied, compromised, defended or appealed.

4) An itemized statement of loss and expense incurred by Surety, sworn to by an officer of Surety, shall be prima facie evidence of the fact and extent of my (our) obligation to Surety.

5) Surety may procure its release from said suretyship under any law for release of sureties without liability to Surety for any damage I (we) sustain therefrom.

6) To secure Indemnitors' duties and obligations to Surety, upon Indemnitors breach of a bonded contract, Bond or this Agreement or is declared in default by a Bond Obligor or a payment bond claim is made, assigns to Surety a lien and security interest in its interest, right and title to and interest in all amounts due under the Obligation and under all other bonded and unbonded contracts; all agreements, notes, accounts, or accounts receivable in which indemnitors have any interest; and all subcontracts under the Obligation.

7) Each Indemnitor irrevocably appoints Surety or its designee as its attorney-in-fact with the right and power, but not the obligation, to exercise all of the rights assigned to Surety under this agreement and to make, execute and deliver any and all additional contracts, instruments, assignments, documents or paper deemed necessary and proper by Surety in order to give full effect to the intent and meaning of the assignments or rights contained herein. Indemnitors hereby ratify all acts by Surety or its designee as attorney-in-fact.

8) Surety may decline to issue bonds and may cancel, withdraw, or procure its release from the Bonds at any time, without incurring liability to Indemnitors.

9) Each Indemnitor agrees to be bound to every obligation in the Agreement regardless of whether the principal fails to sign any bond, the identity of other indemnitors.

10) Undersigned has the responsibility to review all bonds executed by Surety for errors and omissions prior to delivery of the bond to the Obligor, and hereby waives any claims against Surety arising out of any such error or omission.

10) The undersigned acknowledge that they have carefully read and understand the foregoing indemnity provisions and are agreeing to be bound by all of the terms and conditions therein.

A SUMMARY OF YOUR RIGHTS UNDER THE FAIR CREDIT REPORTING ACT

The federal Fair Credit Reporting Act (FCRA) is designed to promote accuracy, fairness, and privacy of information in the files of every "consumer reporting" - to creditors, employers, landlords, and other businesses. You can find the complete text of the FCRA, 15 U.S.C. 1681-1681u, at the Federal Trade Commission's web site (<http://www.ftc.gov>). The FCRA gives you specific rights, as outlined below. You may have additional rights under state law, and you may contact your state or local consumer protection agency or state attorney general to learn those rights. agency" (CRA). Most CRAs are credit bureaus that gather and sell information about you – such as if you pay your bills on time or if you have filed bankruptcy

- You must be told if information in your file has been used against you. Anyone who uses information from a CRA to take action against you – such as denying an application for credit, insurance, or employment – must tell you and give you the name, address, and phone number of the CRA that provided the consumer report.
- You can find out what is in your file. At your request, a CRA must give you the information in your file and a list of everyone who has requested it recently. There is no charge for the report if a person has taken action against you because of information supplied by the CRA, if you request a report within 60 days of receiving notice of the action. You also are entitled to one free report every twelve months upon request if you certify that (1) you are unemployed and plan to seek employment within 60 days, (2) you are on welfare, or (3) your report is inaccurate due to fraud. Otherwise, a CRA may charge you up to eight dollars.
- You can dispute inaccurate information with the CRA. If you tell a CRA that your file contains inaccurate information, the CRA must investigate the items (usually within 30 days) by presenting to its information source all relevant evidence you submit, unless your dispute is frivolous. The source must review your evidence and report its findings to the CRA. (The source also must advise national CRA's - to which it has provided the data - of any error.) The CRA must give you a written report of the investigation and a copy of your report if the investigation results in any change. If the CRA's investigation does not resolve the dispute, you may add a brief statement to your file. The CRA must normally include a summary of your statement in future reports. If an item is deleted or a dispute statement is filed, you may ask that anyone who has recently received your report be notified of the change.
- Inaccurate information must be corrected or deleted. A CRA must remove or correct inaccurate or unverified information from its files, usually within 30 days after you dispute it. However, the CRA is not required to remove accurate data from your file unless it is outdated (as described below) or If your dispute results in any change to your report, the CRA cannot reinsert into your file a disputed item unless the information source verifies its accuracy and completeness. In addition, the CRA must give you a written notice telling you it has reinserted the item. The notice must include the name, address, and phone number of the information source.
- You can dispute inaccurate items with the source of the information. If you tell anyone – such as a creditor who reports to a CRA – that you dispute an item, they may not then report the information to a CRA without including a notice of your dispute. In addition, once you've notified the source of the error in writing, it may not continue to report the information if it is, in fact, an error.
- Outdated information may not be reported. In most cases, a CRA may not report negative information that is more than seven years old; ten years for bankruptcies.
- Access to your file is limited. A CRA may provide information about you only to people with a need recognized by the FCRA - usually to consider an application with a creditor, insurer, employer, landlord, or other business.
- Your consent is required for reports that are provided to employers, or reports that contain medical information. A CRA may not give out information about you to your employer or prospective employer without your written consent. A CRA may not report medical information about you to creditors, insurers, or employers without your permission.
- You may choose to exclude your name from CRA lists for unsolicited credit and insurance offers. Creditors and insurers may use file information as the basis for sending you unsolicited offers of credit or insurance. Such offers must include a toll -free phone number for you to call if you want your name and address removed from future lists. If you call, you must be kept off the list for two years. If you request, complete, and return the CRA form provided for this purpose, you must be taken off the list indefinitely.
- You may seek damages from violators. If a CRA, a user and/or (in some cases) a provider of CRA data violates the FCRA, you may be entitled to sue them in a federal court.
